SUBJECT: Dan Southerland Interview

1. As agreed, Dan Southerland of the Christian Science Monitor, who interviewed you on Monday, 18 October, has submitted the interview for your approval to publish with full attribution to you. Southerland submitted the two attached proposals at left. He proposes to use responses in Tab A in an analytical story and Tab B as a question and answer interview to be published as is. We see no problem with your agreeing to this with the following changes (changes are keyed to text and deletions are highlighted in yellow):

Tab A

Response 1: We will substitute the new information on national estimates that you provided; i.e., "National estimates dwindled from an annual average of 51 in the late 60's, down to 33 in the early 70's, and all the way down to an annual average of 12 in the six years from 1975 thru 1980. During 1981, we did 38 national estimates and we will do 60 or more during 1982."

Response 2: We will be less specific about where SOVA was moved; i.e., substitute "out of Headquarters" for Response 5: We would simply like to delete "The CIA thinks it is the superior body" to avoid ruffling DIA.

2. There are no further concerns about the interview. We do not anticipate any problems with Southerland in making these or any other changes you desire.
